Organizational, Community, and Societal Structures and Processes

Course Description

This course examines theory and research knowledge about political, economic, and societal structures and processes related to communities, groups, and organizations within contemporary society. Consideration is given to ways in which these social systems have significant social, political, economic, and psychological impacts on the functioning of individuals, families, and social groups. The course provides a framework for understanding the influences of medium to large social systems on individuals, families, and groups with whom social workers practice. Communities, organizations, and other social groups are examined in terms of risk and protective factors that promote or detract from optimal individual and group well-being.

The course gives special attention to the critical evaluation of theory and research knowledge about social change and social processes within an organizational, community, societal, and international context. There is a focus on oppression, discrimination, prejudice, and privilege and their relationship to social and economic justice for populations served by social workers. This knowledge is considered within a context of social work values and ethics that support the general welfare of all citizens, especially the disadvantaged and oppressed.

Course Objectives

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Identify, describe, and discuss selected theoretical perspectives on organizational, community, and societal structures, processes, and change and social and behavioral science knowledge.

2. Describe and discuss the impact of communities, organizations, and other societal groups on the social environmental interactions between individuals, families, and small groups.

3. Describe and discuss the meaning of multiculturalism and diversity and their consequences in American society for community, organizational, and societal functioning.
4. Identify, describe, and discuss the role of risk and protective social factors in relation to social problems, social work interventions and social/economic justice.

5. Identify, describe, and discuss major processes and contemporary manifestations of oppression, discrimination, prejudice, power, and privilege as they impact on the social environment, especially in relation to women, people of color, and gay, lesbian, and bisexual persons.

6. Identify, describe, and discuss barriers to organizational and community competence, especially those derived from race, ethnicity, culture, social class, gender, sexual orientation, religion, physical or mental ability, age, or national origin.

7. Critically evaluate organizational, community, and societal structures and processes that seek to promote social and economic justice by applying professional values and ethics.

8. Critically evaluate and apply social and behavioral science knowledge about macro systems to generalist social work practice.

Relationship of the Course to the MSW Curriculum

This course is part of the HBSE (Human Behavior and Social Environment) component of the foundation, generalist component of the curriculum. As such, it focuses on the “macro” knowledge base for social work practice in all methods and fields, emphasizing mid to larger size systems. It draws from some areas of psychology, but more from sociology, political science, and anthropology, with some economics and history. The course will emphasize what evidence is available to support particular perspectives and theories and will analyze the strengths and limitations of each. A major goal is to develop the capacity to think, plan, problem-solve, and create change at larger systems levels, and to understand how larger systems affect individuals, families, and groups.

Relationship of the Course to Four Curricular Themes

- Multiculturalism and Social Diversity is addressed through the presentation of theory and research on their role in community, organizational, and societal functioning and well-being.
- Social Justice and Social Change is addressed through the discussion of the role of risk factors and preventive social factors in relation to social problems and social work interventions.
- Behavioral and Social Sciences Research is addressed through its inclusion in the description of the social environment and its impact on individuals, families, and groups.
- Promotion, Prevention, Treatment, and Rehabilitation is addressed through the discussion of programs and systemic interventions to prevent stress and alleviate oppression for individuals, families, and groups and to enhance their quality of life and well-being.

Required Readings
The following books are required texts for the course. They are available for purchase in Shaman Drum bookstore on State Street and are on reserve in the School library. You can also find used copies available from Amazon.com.

- A coursepack of articles and book chapters available for purchase from Excel (on S. University, between E. University and Church).

Course Assignments, Requirements, and Grading
10% of your grade will be based on class participation – showing up for class is very important as is participation in a number of in-class/out-of-class group and individual activities.

Everyone will be assigned a specific date on which she/he will co-lead a half-hour discussion/experience/activity of the readings for that particular class date. The group will be responsible for jointly developing 3-5 discussion questions (which should be made available to the class) and for facilitating the actual discussion. This activity will not be formally graded, but will be considered as part of your class participation grade. If it is possible to find a fictional or non-fictional video/movie clip (of no longer than 7 minutes) which illustrates and/or illuminates some of the material in the readings, please feel free to include this video in your presentation.

For Class 5 and 6, I would like the presenters to focus on Barbara Ehrenreich’s book. For Class 5, looking at the “barriers to community competence” she encounters; and for Class 6, looking specifically at the ways in which the author and her co-workers were disempowered and/or empowered. For Class 9 (on Nov. 7), I would like the presenters to clearly and specifically integrate the concepts from The Tipping Point into the presentation. For Class 11 (on Nov. 21), I would like the presenters to specifically integrate the concepts from Leadership and Self-Deception (in the Coursepack) into the presentation.

Your presentation should have specific learning objectives that include:

a. “terms” (actual terms from the readings);
b. “facts”(important facts you feel the class should remember); and

c. “principles of practice” actual practice principles revealed in the readings.
There will be three (3) written papers for the course. Each paper is worth 30% of your course grade. The requirements for each paper will be explained in detail at least 3 weeks prior to the due date. If you have a creative idea for one of the papers, please come up with a 1-2 paragraph proposal which explains your idea AND explains how your idea will address/embrace the basic premises of the assignment. This kind of creativity is welcome! Papers will be marked down 5% for every day late. A paper is late after 8:10AM on the day it is due. The papers will be evaluated based on the following criteria:

- Systematic and logical presentation of arguments;
- Appropriate use of evidence;
- Familiarity with and appropriate use of relevant literature and concepts;
- Clarity and coherence of presentation;
- Originality and creativity;
- Conformity with the requirements of the assignment

I am not interested or impressed by lengthy papers that exceed the page limit or meet the page limit exactly. In many instances, the conciseness of a paper indicates that it has been well organized and well contemplated.

If you are unhappy with your grade, you can turn in a rewrite of Papers 1 & 2 no later than 1 week after it is returned to you. All changes should be highlighted and you should also turn in a copy of your original paper. Paper 3 cannot be rewritten.

Assignment 1 – Examination of self in relation to the macro world. – Due Oct. 3

This assignment asks you to examine yourself and your background in relation to the macro world and the material in this course. Details will be provided in class.

Assignment 2 – Multicultural Conceptions of Community – Due November 7

This assignment utilizes literary and social science sources to examine different perspectives on the nature of community. Each student will select a novel (or anthology of short stories) that explores the role of community in the lives of individuals, families, and groups. The assignment will require students to compare and contrast the conception of community presented in the novel with their own perspective(s) on community in the context of a theoretical perspective on community drawn from the course readings. A list of potential readings will be distributed in class. Students may also suggest additional titles. Note: Students must select a book that describes a racial, ethnic, or cultural group different from themselves. Further details will be provided in class.

Assignment 3 – Community/Organizational Theory and Change – Due Dec. 5

This assignment requires students to explore the utility of a theoretical perspective on community or organizational change in the context of their field placement agencies. Details will be provided in class.

All assignments should be 5-8 double-spaced, typewritten pages (using a 12-point font). Sources used must be cited using the appropriate citation format. Note that two important criteria for the evaluation of each assignment are that its emphasis must be on analysis, and not merely description; and that the paper apply concepts and theories covered in class and required readings.

Class Schedule and Readings (CP = Reading in Coursepack)

The chapters and articles are to be read by the date under which they are listed in the Schedule. Example: On September 12, you need to come to class having read the first 6 chapters of Mullaly.

Class 1
September 5
Introduction to the Course
Basic Goals and Concepts

Class 2
September 12
Theories of Society and Social Welfare

Reading:
- Mullaly, chapters 1-6.

Paper 1 assigned

Class 3
September 19
Theories of Society and Social Welfare II:
Analyzing Poverty

Class 4
September 26
Defining and understanding communities

Readings:
- (CP) B. Reed, “Theorizing in Community Practice,” 84-102.
- (CP) K. Kirst-Ashman, Chapter 3, Human Behavior, Power and Empowerment in Communities

Paper 2 Assigned

Class 5
October 3
Barriers to Community Competence. Theories Underlying Community Change

Readings
- (CP) M. Payne, Chapter 11, “Feminist Perspectives,” 251-269

Guest Lecture: University of Michigan LGBT Office on Community change-efforts and theory that underlies community change
Paper 1 Due

Class 6  October 10  Community Political Systems and Power

Reading:
- Ehrenreich, “Cleaning in Maine.”

October 17=Winter Break

Class 7  October 24  Ideology, multiculturalism, and Community

Readings:

Class 8  Oct. 31  Community Change and Community Organizing on the Neighborhood Level

Reading:
- (CP) Johnson, Chapters 3, “The Trouble We’re In: Privilege, Power and Difference,” pp. 15-41

Guest Lecture: Safehouse on Community organizing and how community conflict can be managed

Assign Paper 3

Class 9  November 7  Community Change and Community Organizing on the Neighborhood Level II
Reading

- The Tipping Point: Introduction, Chapters 1, 2

PAPER 2 DUE

Class 10  November 14  Theories of Organizations and Organizational Practice I

Reading:
- Ehrenreich, “Selling in Minnesota” and “Evaluation”
- The Tipping Point, Chapters 3, 4 (you can skim Chapter 3 – if you wish!)

ASSIGNMENT 2 IS DUE

Class 11  November 21  Theories of Organizations and Organizational Practice II

Reading:
- (CP) E. Mulroy, “Theoretical Perspectives on the Social Environment,” 77-95.
- (CP) Arbinger Institute, Leadership and Self-Deception, 1-48

Guest Appearance I: “Talk to Us”

Class 12  November 28  Theories of Community and Organizational Development and Change I

Readings:
- The Tipping Point, Chapters 5, 7
Class 13 December 5 Interorganizational Relations

Readings:

Guest Lecture: Community Action Network on how diversity and multi-cultural sensitivity can be integrated into organizational structure

Assignment 3 due

Class 14 December 12 Theories of Community and Organizational Development & Change II

Readings:
- Mullaly, Chapter 9, “Working Within (And Against) the System,” 163-186.
- (CP) M. Payne, Chapter 14, “Empowerment and Advocacy,” 295-315
- The Tipping Point, Chapters 5,7

Guest Appearance II: “Talk to Us”